

Design-Build

Not only does RP Constructors understand the complexity of industrial construction, but as engineers with our sister company Civil Engineers & Constructors(CEC), we know how to complete the project ahead of schedule and on budget. Our construction teams have the advantage of working with an engineering firm that designs projects that are easier to build. Smart, streamlined plans allow contractors to accelerate their schedules and save money. When others say it can't be done, we say it can.

Our Approach

RP Constructors understands what contractors go through to complete a project by deadline. We are not only engineers; we are builders. With a foundation in heavy civil construction, we have first-hand knowledge of how projects should be built and how long they will take. Our business acumen allows us to design and survey projects with the contractor in mind. No other firm can match this level of service.

"We'll be able to continue for the next 10, 20, 30 years and get even better at it."

Ryan Callaghan, President & CEO

Who We Help

MUNICIPAL/ GOVERNMENT

When a municipality or government entity puts out a public bid, they look for the lowest responsive, responsible bidder. Since these bids are public, governmental entities must ensure those tax dollars are used wisely. RP Constructors strives to ensure the best construction experience with that in mind and will deliver a complete proposal. Our clients require solid financial strength and an excellent safety record—both of which we have.

INDUSTRIAL

Unfortunately, it is prevalent for industrial construction companies to low-ball a bid, get awarded the project, and then change the order up for all of the things they did not plan for but could have reasonably foreseen. Those surprises are unfair to the Owner, and we don't play that game.

PRIVATE/ COMMERCIAL

RP Constructors really shines because we can complete surveying, engineering, and construction all in-house. There are a lot of balls getting thrown in the air, and we make sure nothing drops and hits the ground. Our ability to expertly self-perform all aspects of a project is different from other companies because they aren't used to talking among different teams. Our surveyors know what the engineers need, and the engineers know what the constructors need.
